TO GIVE CONCERT HERE SEPT. 14Harold Bauer, master pianist, is due to arrive in Honolulu by the Ventura September 11. Mr. Bauer will play in the Opera House Monday evening, September 14, at 8:30."Mr. Bauer is a pianist in whom the intellectual, the emotional, the musical and the technical faculties are remarkably balanced, matured, controlled. He unrolled the long panorama of Liszt's sonata with the large magnificence,the sweep and plasticity of design with which it was written. Again, Mr. Bauer's playing of Schumann's 'Kreisleriana' was a perfect definition of its varying moods. Only a pianist of emotional sensitiveness so plays these pieces"—said H. T. Parker, in Boston Transcript.Sent on sale for Mr. Bauer's recital at the Hawaii Promotion Rooms, Young Bldg., at nine o'clock Monday morning.KLEIN DRAMA 'LION AND THE MOUSE' SUSTAINS INTEREST AT YE LIBERTY"The Lion and the Mouse," the gripping photoplay masterpiece from the pen of Charles Klein and enacted by an all-star Lubin company, continues to sustain big interest at Ye Liberty theater. For gorgeous settings, powerful story and educational features regarding the power for evil of great wealth in the hands of an unscrupulous person who amasses his riches for the sake of dictation and control of fellow men, "The Lion and the Mouse" has no peer in American lit-erature or on the stage. Some of the greatest American actors have starred in the play and scored tremendous successes. As produced in the pictures at Ye Liberty the production is more stupendous than could be produced on the legitimate stage. There is also a pretty story of love and devotion and in the end a triumph of right over might even against multi-millions. It is one of the most clean, wholesome pictures which has ever been shown in Honolulu.BAN IS LIFTED AND INN ALLOWED
LATE PRIVILEGEOn the showing that Jack Scully, the former manager had severed all connection with the Walkiki Inn, and the statement of Attorney R. W.
Breckons that the concern owes about $20,000, the liquor license commission yesterday afternoon granted special after-hour privileges to the new management of the resort. The committee representing the creditors, who now are in complete control of the place, promised it will be managed properly so that no further criticism can be made of its conduct.Rev. John W. Wadman told the commission he thought the Inn should have equal privileges with the Moana and Seaside hotels, but did not believe the after-hour permit should be granted until the new management had been in charge long enough to redeem the unsavory reputation the resort achieved under its former management. F. H. Kanne, the new manager installed by the creditors, appeared before the board and discussed his plans for making the place more respectable, making a favorable impression on his hearers. Breckons told the commission the Inn would need every privilege it could get if the creditors were to get back a reasonable share of the $20,000 they have sunk in it.The creditors' committee consists of A. J. Wirtz, for H. Hackfeld & Company; R. J. Buchly, for Peacock & Company; D. H. Lewis, for Lovejoy & Company; H. A. Jonas, for Gunst & Company, and C. G. Bartlett, for the Honolulu Brewing Company.Because H. Macfarlane's wholesale license at Kualoa has been granted him personally the board yesterday declined his application for permission to incorporate the business at that place.Circuit Judge Whitney this morning granted a divorce to Elizabeth Lillehua from David Lillehua, whom she accused of cruelty and nonsupport.TEMPERANCE FILM DRAWS BIG CROWD
TO THE POPULAR"Ten Nights in a Barroom" continues to draw large crowds to the Popular theater, where its sterling temperance lecture is being preached at two performances each night. The Honolulu clergy have emphatically endorsed this motion picture and declare it to be one of the finest of the entire repertoire of "Blair's Greater Photo-Plays."It is pointed out by Dr. John W.
Wadman, superintendent of the local branch of the Anti-Saloon League, who calls attention to the fact that the moral lesson taught is one that will prove of incalculable value to men, women and children. "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is an excellent expose of the short-lived friend that man thinks he has in the saloon-keeper. When the money is all gone the friendship automatically ceases, as was the case with poor Joe Turner and his former friend and tavern keeper, Simon Slade. Slade sees Joe, his boyhood pal, slide to the lowest depths through Slade's rum and when Joe is drinking the dregs Simon has no more use for him and throws him into the street."Simon Slade was my best friend but his whisky was my worst enemy and I feel that I am entitled to ask you as citizens of Cedarville to close the tavern," said Joe, after his reformation and regeneration. The citizens of Cedarville agreed with Joe and the place was closed.For dramatic strength it would be hard to imagine a photo-play that could improve on "Ten Nights in a Barroom," which includes three murders, a violent death and a thrilling rescue from the river. It also shows the most horrible side of the drink habit, when Joe is seen in the throes of D. T.'s, a monster snake coiled around him and ready to strike. It shows the effect of drink upon its innocent victims—Joe's wife and child.
It shows them reduced to want with Mrs. Turner compelled to take in washing to keep herself and child alive and her husband in booze-money."Better than one million temperance lectures" is the phrase used by an able critic in commenting on "Ten Nights in a Barroom." This film will be the offering tonight, Monday and Tuesday nights."TOO MUCH JOHNSON" AND TARIFF TINKERING AID GRAND OLD PARTY?Captain John Fredericks, a forceful speaker and student of political conditions in California, said, in the course of a speech:"Do you know what the underlying cause is of this enrollment of 472,000 Republicans, the heaviest Republican registration in the history of the state of California? A great many Republicans and Progressives, too, for that matter, will tell you that it is 'too much Johnson,' but to my mind the cause lies deeper than that. The Johnson administration is only an incidental reason, a side issue as it were.
"I am convinced that the basic cause of this tremendous Republican regi-stration in California is due mainly to the repeal of the tariff by the Democrats. This may have an old-time ring, but I can't help that. There are certain economic forces at work, which no intelligent man, no matter how partisan he may be, can ignore."In addition to sugar, the bark R. P.
Rithet will, upon being dispatchedfrom Honolulu and island ports for the coast, carry a considerable shipment of scrap iron. The Rithet is now en route from San Francisco with a consignment of general merchandise and feed stuffs.The first producing oil well in Venezuela recently was bored.
